About Asian Centre for Liver Diseases and Transplantation

Asian Centre for Liver Diseases & Transplantation Ltd (ASX:AJJ), founded in 1994, started trading on the Australian Securities Exchange in September 2009. The company's centre at Gleneagles Hospital, Singapore, is the largest private liver transplant and liver disease treatment facility in Asia, treating people from throughout the world. AJJ is progressing plans to establish centers in Vietnam, Malaysia and China to meet the growing demand in emerging markets.

The incidence of liver cancer has doubled in the past two decades and continues to increase due to hepatitis B and hepatitis C, alcoholism and fatty liver disease. AJJ has specialist skill in liver transplants from live donors, such as relatives, as the liver is the only human organ that can regenerate.
